

Ina Annette (American 1901-1990), Along the Rio Chama, oil on canvas, 1937

Ina Annette taught for years in the art department of the University of Oklahoma, Norman. Then, she married an administrator at the same school and was promptly fired for a violation of the University's anti-nepotism policy. Her husband kept his job.

Ina traveled to Abique, New Mexico where she studied with and became a close friend of Georgia O'Keeffe. This image is an archetypal modernist 1930s landscape.