

Stow Wengenroth (American 1906-1978) New York Nocturne, lithograph, 1945

Stow Wengenroth was an American artist and lithographer, born in 1906 in Brooklyn, New York. Wengenroth was once called "America's greatest living artist working in black and white" by the American realist painter Andrew Wyeth, and he is generally considered to be one of the finest American lithographers of the twentieth century. His urban scenes of Manhattan and the New York City environs are especially coveted by the current market.